ENGINEERING DESIGN, (HVAC) SERVICES Washington

Annual Revenues: $9,055,078
Annual Profitability: $6,634,709
Asking: $30,000,000

This Engineering and Design team focuses on HVAC and plumbing design/consulting services for K-12 schools (75%) as well as other commercial and high-tech projects (25%).

Specializing in new technologies, green building practices, and forward-thinking innovative designs, this company has developed a solid reputation in the state. Meeting the budgetary and design demands of a project are built into the entire process from schematic design through construction administration.

The owners of this company have taken great care in developing an approach that includes excellent communication with clients and highly responsive service. The knowledgeable team can complete projects with great insight into how the finished designs will impact the customer's long-term financial and energy use needs.

Clients are typically architects working on schools or commercial projects. Growth can be found in adding staff members, so the team can accommodate an increase in projects. With a growth in the staff, this business can raise its ability to take on additional projects within the K-12 sector or in an expanded selection of industries.
